INSTITUTE IS GROWING

Appropriation Is Being Wisely Expended.

Dr. J. M. McBryde, of Blacksburg, Va.,

ing of the Board of Agriculture, talked interestingly last night regarding the many valuable improvements being made to that large and growing institution.

One of the most noteworthy of these is the completion and operation of steam railway line from Christiansburg, on the main line of the Norfolk and Western to Blacksburg, the seat of the school, and is broad guage and well equipped and constructed. Four trains per day are operated over the line between Blacksburg and Christiansburg, thus terminating the inaccessibility of the school. All the coal used by the firstitution and the building materials needed for the construction of the new buildings at the institute have been transported over this new railway line. The road is owned by a corporation of which Mr. William J. Payne, of this city, is chief owner, Mr. Payne is also chief owner, Mr. Payne is also chief owner, Mr. Payne is also chief owner of the Newport News and Old Point Railway and Electric Company's splendid line. The road is being well patronized and it is expected that it will prove a paying venture.

Spending the Money Well.

A great many improvements are being made at the institute with the appropriation of $15,500 made by the recent General Assembly. The capacity of the mess hall has been more than doubled, and so has that of the shops and manual training department. A new auditorium is being built of Virginia limestone, trimmed with native sandstone, the walls of the structure being complete and the roof under construction. This auditorium will sent 1,300 persons and will be the largest west of Richmond. It will be an architectural ornament, tog.

Ground is being broken for the construction of the new agricultural building, which will be of stone and ample for its purposes.

Large, additions have been made to the power plant of the Institute. Two new boilers of 10 horse power each, an engine of 250 horse power, and a very large generator are being installed. A complete and improved fire apparatis has been installed. This embraces fire escapes and stand pipes for all the domitiories and other large building, hose, reels, fire extinguishers and everything needful in subduing fires. The Institute now has fire protection equal to that in the large cities. Spending the Money Well.

PREDICTS ALL THINGS.

Dawn at Hand—Allan Speaks.

An audience consisting of one indy, fifty-four white men, including those on the rostrum, and twelve colored men-listened to the address of Mr. Edgar Allan, Jr., one of the Republican candidates for Congress, at Corcoran Hall, on Twenty-fifth near Broat Street, last night. Mr. Otls H. Kussell led off in a "whooping up" speech, in the course of which he predicted an overwhelming victory for Roosevelt in the country and declared that every country in the Night District would go for Slemp.

Mr. Allan was presented by Mr. Russell, who declared that he was the regular candidate of the Republicans for Congress in this district.

It was Mr. Allan's first appearance on the stump since his father's shocking death, and he was visibly affected as the began his speech. In a broken and trembling voice he quoted what he characterized as his father's faverite poem, the sentiment running through it being that flowers should be spread in the pathway of the living rather than placed upon their bier. Mr. Vallan then explained that he had resumed his campaign on the advice of his friends that there was no impropriety in his doing so. Mr. Allan re d numerous letters from officials of the party stampings his candidacy as regular. These including letters from State Chairman Agnew and Chairman J. W. Babcock, of the Republican Congréssional Committee, A little later on he declared with solemn emphasis: "So help me God, if I die in the effort. I propose to let the people know what this Federal office trust is."

The State Board of Agriculture and Imhead of the Virginia Polytechnic Insti- migration met in the Library building yestute, who is in the city to attend a meet- terday, President Beverley presiding, Many ing of the Board of Agriculture, talked matters of interest were discussed, chief Interestingly last night regarding the among which was that of immigration.

Means Is Suggested.

Regarding means, the report says:

"We think that if the Southern transportetion companies could be induced to take up this matter in a manner similar to that now operated by the Western railroads, the South would soon get its share of immigration, of which it now gets practically none. Your committee is assured by the United States Immigration Department at Washington that that department will give all possible assistance, and that if our transportation companies will take the matter up and bring immigrants into Norfolk, the United States Department will provide necessary facilities at that point (or handling immigrants.

recently been renovated and is now in condition to accomplish more for suffering humanity than over before.
The hospital is wholly derendent upon

More Trouble for Jeffries.

Another warrant was served on Akidus Jeffres, colored, at the juil last night by Capitain Tomilinson and Detective Wiltshire.

The last charge against the negro is rnat of stenling a silver watch and a lot of household—rds from Sarah Scott, all valued at $25.25. Jefries has already been sent to the grand jury on two charges of burglary.

The Outlook Is Bright.

McCarthy Council, No. 468, Royal Area-num, will hold its regular meeting at Lee Camp Hall to-night at 8.6° clock. A bright outlook for the winter month is before this progressive council, and to-night in er hall will be formelly organized the McFadden class whose pur-pose it is to increase the membership in every council of Royal Areanum of the city.

Last year Paul Glimore came to this city as the star in a new play in which John Drew had won recognition. No one knew much about the play, but Mr. Glimore was favorably remembed for his acting on a previous engagement. To say that the presentation of this play last senson, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," exceeded all expectations, is putting it mildly. The local manusement announces the reappearance of Mr. Glimore in "The Mummy and the Humming Blrd" at the Academy this afternoon and to-night. The same as heretofore, Mr. Glimore will be supported by a company of talented and exceedingly capable artists, with no weak characters, but avery member of the supporting company fully equal to the requirements of their parts, and it is a foregone conclusion that not only will Mr. Glimore's reappearance in this city in "The Mummy and the Humming Brd" prove one of the big events of the season, but it will without doubt prove one of the very best and most palatable amusement dishes placed before the theretical gournands.

D'Orsay Next Week.

Mr. Henry Watterson's opigram regarding "The Darl of Pawtucket," which is to be portrayed by Lawrence D'Orsay and his famous company at the Academy of Music next Wednesday, mathree and night, will become one of his most widely circulated remarks, if the press agent of the company succeeds in having it printed as often as he wants to. Mr. Watterson characterized the play as "America as seen through a monocle."

At dawn to-day the officers came upon the bandits in camp on the Grey Bull River, sixty-five miles from the scene of last evening's battle. The robbers refused to surrender and put up a hard fight. The horse of one of the officers was killed and some of the men had narrow escapes. The robbers succeeded in getting away. The posse followed closely because of the necessity of avoiding a possible ambuscade. The outlaws were again overtaken on Enos Creek, thirty miles from Meetcetse, and eighty miles from Cody, and another fight occurred. One of the bandits was wounded in the thigh, but his companion hoisted him onto his horse, and after a running right for four miles the outlaws again got away.

The stranger, who was accompanied by a lady, had employed a street urchin to carry his satchel to the depot, and when the trio reached Main and Ninth Streets, the newsboys at that corner began to beat the lad. Policeman Tucker was not far off, and hearing the stranger say the pol'cemen of the city were lacking in efficiency, placed the man under arrest, and started with him to the First Police Station. A crowd soon gathered in the wake of the policeman. When the corner of Tenth and Main was reached, the officer recons dered his intention of taking the stranger to the station and released him.
